Livingston County Home Sales Up Nearly 20% In February

March 12, 2008

3/12/08 - Amid a seemingly endless stream of bad economic news, there's actually some good news concerning real estate in Livingston County. Farmington Hills-based Realcomp II Limited reports that homes sales in Livingston County last month saw a 19.5% increase over February 2007. Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties also saw home sale increases, which officials attribute to home sellers adjusting their prices downward to better reflect the reality of the market. However, foreclosure numbers for February aren't so positive. According to the Livingston County Register of Deeds, foreclosures went up 34% with 66 reported in February 2007 and 100 last month.
